MESSAGE FROM THE PAST EXALTED RULER

STUART YOXSIMER

It's been an honor serving as the Exalted Ruler for our lodge this year. Obviously it was a very different and difficult year but we were still able to accomplish a lot of great things. We were able to provide many of the great services to our community that the Elks are known for including donations to the Samaritan House, St. Vincent de Paul, our veterans, and of course scholarship money for deserving students. We kept most of our facilities open to some degree to our members during a time when many businesses were closed completely. There were many volunteers that helped us get through this year, and for that I am very grateful.

Membership numbers declined this year but I am hopeful we can build it back up quickly. It is that time of year to pay your dues so please do so soon. I feel very optimistic that we will be able to continue to open more of the lodge soon, so hopefully you will be able to participate in all of the activities you enjoy there in the coming months.

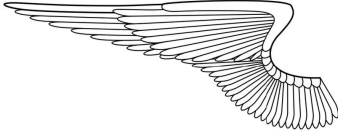

Thanks again to all of the wonderful people that generously give their time at the lodge to make it run. It's not always easy, but it is an essential component to keeping things going. So thank you. If you are interested in joining committees or volunteering some of your time to help out, please reach out.

Please continue to be diligent and be safe. I look forward to seeing you at the lodge sometime soon.

Respectfully,

Stuart Yoxsimer

MESSAGE FROM THE EXALTED RULER

KEN CALLEGARI

Dear Fellow Elks

I want to introduce the incoming officer group. My name is Ken Callegari, I will be the Exalted Ruler (ER). Serving with me, will be Gene Condon, Bill Wratten and Ted Larson as Knights, and Tom Dasher as incoming Trustee.

All of the officers have multiple years of experience serving our Lodge with 3 past exalted rulers in the group

I want to thank the outgoing ER Stuart Yoximer and his officers for their leadership in this trying Covid year. All of the officers worked diligently in keeping our Lodge open as much as possible. Special mention goes to Cindy Chang for her extraordinary efforts in keeping us Covid informed and Covid compliant.

Last year was challenging for us all individually as well as communally.

Fortunately the vaccines are coming. I would encourage everyone who can, to get a vaccination. This will help to get our Lodge fully open as soon as possible

I am committed to growing and evolving our beloved Elks Lodge 1112 through this upcoming year. I have a sense of urgency about opening up our Lodge and getting life back to normal. I will lean on our officer corps, but I also need help from individual members. And I end my first letter with a Challenge. The challenge is this: Reach out and contact an Elk friend that you have lost touch with.

My goal this year will be Engagement: With each other and with our local community.

I look forward to spending this coming year in the company of friends and fellow Elk brothers and sisters

Thank You

Ken Callegari

TROOP 44

TROOP 44

JANUARY UPDATE

Written By: Declan Holmes

TROOP 44

Another month gone by, another set of meetings and events completed, and boy did we have fun. Starting off the month, we had a pet show and tell where all of the Scouts showed the others their pets. We had dogs, cats, even a bird! Following that we had a short presentation on First Aid, and after that breakout rooms where we had our first SPL riddle. Up next on the February events list was Scout Sunday, which looked a little different than normal. Typically all scouts are required to attend Scout Sunday as part of being an active scout, but this year, scouts were encouraged to go to whichever church they regularly attended. In doing so, we lived out the twelfth point of the Scout Law, which is to be reverent. The next event was the meeting the next day, where we welcomed Cub Scouts to join our meeting in an Troop Open House. As part of our entertainment for the night, we played a BSA Kahoot that focused on facts about Troop 44's history, as well as BSA's history. Then we had a quick note from our greenbar, where all of greenbar contributed one word that they would use to describe our troop. After that came a quick history lesson on Troop 44, then question time. We found that there wasn't quite enough to fill the time, so we improvised and played one word stories, where everyone contributes one word to create an improvised story. It was quite amusing, as our story started out as a campout, then changed to a horror story, then it was situated in space. It was an odd but amusing story. The next week, we did not have a meeting, but we did have a Board of Review, where a scout ranked up to Star. The next meeting, our new Star scout was announced, and then we went into our games for the night. Our main game was a race to see who could put on the most items of clothing in 5 minutes. We then went around the Zoom Room and counted who had the most items on, sparking many debates if multiples of an item were allowed. In some cases, multiples were allowed as long as you could make an argument that they were different, for example, a t-shirt is different than a tank top. The record was 30 items, including shirts, pants, shoes, socks, hats, sunglasses and glasses. After that we had breakout rooms, which was split between 3 rooms instead of the normal Patrol Breakouts. In one room, we had the Life Scouts, who were talking about how to make it to Eagle. In another room, we had the older and higher rank scouts who talked about being the future leaders of the troop, as well as how to be a leader. The third room was dedicated to games, playing a few rounds of Among Us while the other rooms had their discussions. And to end the month, we received the amazing news that we entered the Red Tier, meaning that in person meetings and campouts would be resuming in March.
